

How do you interact with food on UW campus?

UW researchers are recruiting participants for a Photovoice study about food security on UW Campus

Expectations:

- Photograph food and food environment over the winter quarter
- Participate twice in a 2-hour focus group discussion in February, sharing your experience with food security on UW campus

Eligibility:

- Full-time UW undergraduate student
- Lives in university dorms OR lives off campus but eats food acquired on campus regularly (dining halls, restaurants, vending machines, etc)

Compensation:

- Small honorarium
- Free nutritious snacks at focus groups
- Basic photography lessons
- Optional show case of your photography at an exhibit at the end of the year

If eligible and interested, scan the QR code to fill out an interest survey! We will reach out to you with more information.